Chancellor of the Exchequer, should produce more than £100,000,000 for the next year's

It was proposed to reduce the cost of education by £5,000,000. This would be done by increasing the charge for subsidised school meals by one penny and reducing transport facilities for children. Medical Service

Sir, First of all I would like to make it clear that I do respect doctors not only because they deserve my respect, but also as the Chinese proverb says, "If one cannot be a good prime minister, one should at least be a good doctor." What an honourable profession the Medical Profession is.

Speaking as a citizen of this Colony, I would like to ask a question, which is whether or, not Benvolence is a good thing? I searched my heart and 'sout' in that, except those who think too much of themselves and not others, no one could lanswer "No." Next question "Is the scheme of Medical Service proposed by the C. R. A. a. benevolent one? Again, I am pretty (sure that the same reply must also be "Yes"! Well, if they know that the above scheme is good, then why should they hesitate to carry it out instead of arguing about it? Are they 'not courageous enough? Or, can they not afford to do so? Should the latter be true, the C.R.A. is wrong to ask it of them.

Now let me ask those prosperous and wise doctors to think of their cars, houses and money made from the rich patients, to nearken to the poor and sick and sacrifice but a little of their ispare time by giving a few cases of free treatment (say one to five cases). I must not be misunderstood that when I say that cars, houses and money they carned are not well deserved for the services they rendered.

As mentioned above, I ask only those who can afford to volunteer, but not those who couldn't to do the work of the ministering angels to heal the poor and succour the sick and to co-operate with the Government. To tell the truth, this is not the responsibility of the doctors, only, but that of the Government as well. History reveals that Love bestifics. Love and Hatred begets Hatred. That is true between individuals no less than nations. The World said that he who recognises no higher logic than that of the dollar, may become a very rich man, and yet remain all the while an exceedingly poor creature. For riches are no proof whatsoever of moral worth, and their glitter often serves only to draw attention to the worthlessness of their possessor, as the light of the glow-worm reveals the grub. And it will always be not those who are hungry." "Ye who are employed sympathise not those who are unemployed," "Ye who are healthy realise not the sick." But I strongly believe not in such sayings! And I hope that they themselves will never suffer the same fate so as to learn a me or the truth. Harvest is but the fruit of what men sowed. It is, however, the responsibility of those who are unfair. harsh and cruel that compel the poor to be Communists or their fellow travellers. If, on the other hand, should the poor receive iair treatment, encuch food (not just bones), and kindness, I feel certain that no one will ever turn to Communism, no matter what kind of propaganda usey will use. Is it too late to mend What I am saying is forsooth and it is up to these learned men to decide. For it is written in the Holy Bible. "Ye shall know the Truth and the Truth chaît set ye free." No malter how smart, clever, able, or rich one may be, none, except the savage, can live alone regardless of the community. They, who are educated, understand that it is much more blessed to give than to take. But how to carry it out is entirely a different question, Are they too difficult to know or are they only difficult to do No! The difficulty is within ourselves. We always think of taking more than giving.

"Ye who are well fed know

Last but not the least, hoping for the future betterment of Hong Kong, allow me to say that there is no better policy than that of being fair and kind so as to win the peoples love and hence co-operation. TRUTHSEEKER

CALL FOR CO-OPERATION TO Arab Nations Move BRITONS BY PRIME MINISTER

Confident Nation Can Survive Difficulties PRICE RISES EXPECTED

London, October 23. The Prime Minister, Clement Attlee, told Britons tonight that the nation could survive her economic difficulties only if all people, in whatever capacity, co-operate with a firm will to conquer.

Mr. Attlee spoke before the cotton industry conference at Harrogate, but he refused to reveal anything of the economic speech which he is to make before the House of Commons tomorrow.

He told the conference one of Britain's biggest problems was to pay for food from Canada and he warned manufacturers it was up to them to produce the kind of goods Canadians wanted.

Boston, October 23.

The first stage of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's tour of the United States has been a complete success, and everywhere he has been greeted with a measure of welcome bordering on personal affection.

This has been true both on the official and nonofficial levels and Pandit Nehru himself has more than once confessed that he has been overwhelmed by the cordiality and friendship shown towards him.

It was quite clear from the early in the morning, yet rising manner in which Mr. Nehru ad-early to begin his next day's-promitted this feeling that he was genuinely effected by the sincerity of the welcome given to him and by the laudatory scrims in which his achievements had been described.

Throughout the tour his stature as "a world figure", his championship of the colonial and under-privileged peoples, and, above all, his transparent sincerity have been stressed by speakers and by newspapers.

Those who have seen most of the world's great figures welcomed to the United States said that they have never seen a more uniformly warm and enthusiastic reception. His popularity has been such that it has proved extremely difficult to keep to the schedule framed for him. His presence has been in demand everywhere, and he has done his best to meet as many associations, groups and individuals as he can. Nehru's well-known vitality and energy have been taxed to the utmost in meeting the demands on him, and he has repeatedly agreed to sandwich further engagements into his already strenuous schedule.

He has - taken every opportunity to meet labour leaders, literary figures, and, in particular, Indian residents and students wherever he has been. Thus he ordered his programme in New York to fit in a visit to Boston where there are about 100 Indian students taking technological courses. The reception Mr. Nehru has been given by the American people has created a most heartwarming effect among the Indian community. This is regarded as a very good harbinger for the closer relations between the two countries that Mr. Nehru desires.

Political Sympathy The New York "Times " said

today in a review of Pandit Nehru's visit to America that there was considerable polltical sympathy for India in Washington and a disposition to try to help the Indian Prime Minister to solve the great problems of his country. The feeling in American diplomatic circles is that eventually India will arrive at a point where she cannot stay on the fence in the East-West conflict-and that at that point she will choose to stand with the Western mocracies", the newspaper said.

Soviet Papers Indicate Russia

Moscow, October 23.

Soviet newspaper editorials today gave the strongest yet indication that Russia intends to remain within the United Nations in spite of Yugoslavia's election to the Security Council.

Both "Pravda" and "Izvestia" quoted several past declarations by Marshal Stalin and M. Molotov about the importance of the United Nations Organisation in defending peace and the principle of equality of States.

ARGENTINA HAS STRIKE FLARE-UP

Buenos Aires, October 23. One hundred thousand meat workers voted today to stop work for 24 hours, after midnight tonight, in protest against layoffs in the industry. It was one more work stoppage to irk the government of President Juan D. Peron, which came to power with labour backing:

The strike is aimed at the Ministry of Labour, which authorised the Swift packing company of Rosario to lay off 250 men because of a lack of work.

The meat workers have been staging one and a half hour stoppages each shift in the packing since last Thursday to the demands that government return to its former policy of making layoffs the subject of arbitration between union, management and the Labor Department.

CONDUCT RESEARCH ANTARCTIC AREAS

Washington, October 23.

A group of Soviet scientists who will conduct research in the Antarctic left Odessa early this month with a Russian whaling fleet, it was reported here today.

According to the report, the group will engage in considerably scientific research of an unspecified nature.

HONG KONG

The report is received with special interest here because of previous Soviet public statements that there is reason to believe that uranium is to be found in Antarctica. These - statements were followed by the official Russian warning that Moscow would not recognise any international agreement concerning the future of the South Polar region to which the Soviet Union is not a party.

United States officials believe that Russia is about to lay claim to a segment of the Antarctic continent on the basis of early 19th century exploration by Russian warships commanded by Captain Fabian von Bellinghausen a German in the service of the Czar Alexander I.
